Frontenac Breweries Limited

are compelled to apologize for the delay in choosing a new name for Christmas Bock Beer. The task of selection has far exceeded their ideas of difficulty. Not only are they positively overwhelmed with tens of thousands of postcards and letters from all over the Dominion—speaking in the highest terms of the quality of the beer—but many competitors have sent in several names, which all make the consideration of the right name more difficult. The selection of the name for goes forward as rapidly as possible under a competent committee. The result will be announced in a few days, it is hoped. Meanwhile, competitors and their friends should not forget that Christmas Bock Beer is still on sale at all dealers, and is the ideal of a drink for all weathers.

Wesleyans Have Heard Call to Arms

Seven Well-known Students have Joined the Field Ambulance Corps

WILL LEAVE WITH SECOND CONTINGENT

One of Number, Mr. Graves, to be Ordained on Tuesday

Seven students from the Wesleyan Theological College during the past week, heard the call to arms, joined the Field Ambulance Unit attached to the Second Contingent, and must be prepared to leave for the front at forty-eight hours' notice. They are J. W. Graves, H. E. White, R. H. Parkes, W. H. Norman, W. A. Hawley, F. E. Armstrong and C. W. Tappin, B.A. All are men well known in college circles and popular with their fellow students. One of them, Mr. Graves, is in his final year and is to be ordained at a special service to be conducted by Dr. Spalding next Thursday evening. He will be in uniform and the ceremony will be in itself one unique in the history of the affiliated theological colleges of McGill.

As a token of the admiration for the splendid spirit which has inspired these seven abandon their college course to serve their King and country, Rev. James Smythe, Principal of the College, is giving a reception on Monday evening next. On the same occasion there will be made a presentation to the volunteers from their fellow students.

The men are no longer taking lectures, and expect to go into barracks next week. At present they are living at the college, but as is natural, most of their time is occupied with their military duties.

Undergraduate Romance Ends In Marriage

Bride Has Rare Distinction of Holding B.Sc. Degree

Quite a romance has developed in the last few days. An engagement dating back to undergraduate days between C. G. Porter, M.Sc., and Miss Winnie Mathewson, B.Sc., came suddenly to a head and the couple are to be married on Saturday afternoon. Porter is a lieutenant in the 26th (New Brunswick) Battalion, and has obtained leave of absence for four days to attend the ceremony. He originally volunteered as a private in the Westmount Rifles, but later obtained the commission he now holds. The wedding is to be a very quiet one, no invitations having been sent out. The couple will leave for Ottawa immediately on their honeymoon. Miss Mathewson is a sister of Art Mathewson, the president of the Students' Council. She is one of the few if not the only B.Sc. of the fairer sex, who has graduated from McGill. It was in 1912 that she received that degree. The well wishes of the students will doubtless follow them in their escarpade.

Second Skating Party at Rink Next Friday

Last Gathering This Session Will Be For Seniors and Freshmen

A skating party for the first and fourth year students and co-eds of the university will be held Friday, February 19, on the campus rink. This will be the second of these popular gatherings this season, held by the McGill Y.M.C.A., and will no doubt be eagerly anticipated by all interested. The skating party held for the second and third years a few weeks ago proved a splendid success, a very large number of students turning out.

If that and previous parties on the rink are any indication, the one next week will prove equally successful. This is one of the few opportunities that the university affords for the male students to meet the fairer sex, and everyone in the years mentioned should avail themselves of the chance. This will probably be the last skating party held by the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. this season, and even amid the many distractions of this year, the students can not afford to miss the popular event. The first and fourth year men of all faculties are cordially invited.

NOTES.

S. Montgomery left last night for Toronto, to attend the Varsity Science Dinner. Last year's heavyweight intercollegiate wrestler, Geo. Trapp, who has been visiting Montreal, accompanied him to Toronto on his way west. Mr. Adam Sims, of Varsity, also accompanied them.

Senator David Favors School of Journalism

"I concur entirely in the idea of establishing a school of training for those who intend to pursue a newspaper career or have already entered upon that career. If training is necessary for almost every occupation, it should be as necessary at least for those who may exercise so good or so bad an influence upon society. The newspaper is itself a school and to be a professor in that school requires special qualifications and knowledge which a good training would give or improve." — Hon. L. O. David, F. R. S. C., Senator, City Clerk of Montreal, and formerly actively engaged in various journalistic enterprises.

FRANKLIN PETERSON ON THE WAR

"This New Year's Eve there are thousands of stalwart young fellows in holiday camps who labor under the delusion that, in wearing a badge in their button-holes, and lampooning the Kaiser, they do their whole duty to Australia." — Mr. Donald Macdonald on "Australia and the War."

You sit in your camp this New Year's Eve, and you sing the whole night long. To the windy words and the tum-tum tune of the latest panto song. Your coat is gay in its ribboned pride, flaunting the red, white and blue. But we want a hundred thousand men — can't you see that this means YOU?

You stand all day in the sunny street, watching the cable board. Gloomy or glad as the case may be, if the Allies have suffered or scored. And perhaps "we made progress yesterday," and perhaps we advanced anew. But we want a hundred thousand men — can't you see that this means YOU?

You left your seat in that Bourke street bar, where you'd drowned the foe in beer. To watch the broken battalions pass — perhaps you gave them a cheer. But a year from now, if you don't wake up, you'll be drinking bitter brew. We want a hundred thousand men — can't you see that this means YOU?

You have earned your bar for a hard-won score, you have played the game like men. You have cursed your luck for backing the horse that started with the also ran. But what I ask of the other game — that game we will have to see through. We want a hundred thousand men — can't you see that this means YOU?

Not for glory and not for gain, have we drawn our sword to the strife. It's a fight for our homes, a fight for our freedom — a fight for our very life. Your King is calling, your country's calling, your women are calling, too. We want a hundred thousand men — and the first that we want is you! — Franklin Peterson in the Melbourne "Argus"

HISTORIC LOGS ARE NO LONGER IN FIREPLACE

Youthful Experimenter in Physics Building Starts Fire in the Grate

The historic logs from the "Prove all things first" fireplace in the Physics Building, have disappeared! They were real logs, too. They had a great past and should have had a great future. Had not some youthful investigator questioned their reality, and attempted "to set fire to them and to the whole place," as Levi's first assistant informed a daily representative yesterday afternoon. It was impossible to secure an interview with Levi himself, overwhelmed as he is with the multitudinous duties of special constable and fire warden. The assistant, however, explained with tears in his eyes

Maritimers Hold Banquet Next Monday

President Falconer and Principal Peterson Will Be Among Those Present

PROMINENT MEN ON THE TOAST LIST

Club's Fourth Annual Dinner Promises to Surpass All Previous Ones

Only three more days and the Maritime men of McGill will enjoy their fourth annual banquet at the Ritz, on Monday, February 15th. With the hard times about us, and the war talk around us, it was thought by some that such a function was an impossibility, but with an optimistic and energetic executive, such an idea has been proved groundless. The work has gone on most favorably and success for the function is well in sight.

This is due to the popularity of our esteemed guest, President Falconer, to the excellent menu and programme, to the long list of good speakers, and last, but not least, to the students and graduates themselves, whose response has been most gratifying. The toast list includes Principal Peterson, C. H. Cahon, K.C., Dr. Chipman, Dr. Sullivan, Prof. McKay, Lieut.-Col. Renouf, and others, and acceptances have been received from Dean Walter of Arts, Dean Adams of Science, and Dean Birkett of the Medical Faculty.

This in itself should be quite sufficient to warrant the success of the event and to any one who may attend, the executive promises a hearty reception and one of the best evenings of the college session.

Miss Ryerson Gets Damages In R.V.C. Case

Result of Breach of Promise Suit Is Victory for Plaintiff

On Wednesday afternoon in the Court Room of the Royal Victoria College, a very interesting case was heard. Suit for breach of promise was brought by Miss Gwendolene Ryerson, spinster, against Mr. Algernon Montgomery, bachelor. Both the plaintiff and the defendant were well known in college circles, and before the beginning of the trial the court room was filled to overflowing.

After calling for silence for the judge to enter, and swearing in the jury, the clerk of the court called on the counsel for the prosecution, who in a very masterly way stated her client's case. With the help of her witnesses, a postman, a jeweller's clerk and the plaintiff's sister and also the historical ring presented by the plaintiff to the defendant and by the defendant to Miss Evangeline de Mirabeau, she brought to light many interesting details in the lives of the parties chiefly concerned which had hitherto been unsuspected by the general public.

Extracts from the journals and letters of both parties, and also from the well-known historical novel, "Staunch as a Woman, or Led by Love," were read in court and caused a great sensation. The facts established for the plaintiff were that for two years the defendant had showered her with most marked attentions, had allowed her to imagine herself engaged to him, had written her the most ardent of love-letters, when they were parted for a brief three months, and had then basely deserted her. This rather damning evidence was in part, rebutted by the rigid cross-examination on the part of the counsel for the defence, who went on to strengthen his case in the most brilliant and erudite speech that has been heard in the court room for some time. She called as witnesses Miss Flossy Gibson, a telephone girl; Miss Evangeline de Mirabeau, the fiancée of the defendant; and Mr. Leonard Shelley, an old friend of Miss Ryerson. After a rather perfunctory summing up by the judge, the jury retired to consider the verdict. After a short consideration they announced that they had found for the plaintiff and advised that the plaintiff be granted ten thousand dollars' damages. The judge pronounced the sentence, ten thousand dollars and costs.

There was a good deal of dissatisfaction when this sentence was announced. It is feared that the jury were not incorruptible and steps will be taken in the near future to investigate their past conduct and reputation, and it is quite possible that there may be an appeal to a higher court at an early date.

HISTORICAL CLUB.

The meeting advertised for this evening has been cancelled. Further notice will be given in these columns at the beginning of the week, as to the date on which this meeting will be held.

—we think there were tears, but we are not sure—that the logs had lain unmolested for over twenty years, ever since the completion of the building, in fact, but that now they were gone, gone for ever.
"Prove all things first." Why not turn the deserted fire place into something useful, say a Common Room for the students!

Recruits Wanted

Recruits are wanted. The McGill Battalion of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps has again posted notices throughout the College calling for recruits.

It is little over two months since the recruit classes were closed, and the establishment of the Battalion was completed. Recruits are again needed to fill up the vacancies made by those who have left the Regiment. Many of those who enlisted in the Battalion are now at the front, others have volunteered for active service. Many of those who received their training at McGill now have commissions.

Not a few of our men have volunteered in various capacities for service in the second and third contingents. When these contingents sail they will take with them both combatant privates and officers, as well as men from the Faculties of Science and of Medicine, who are serving in specialist units. In addition to these the General Hospital, which McGill University is supplying for service on the lines of communication, will take from McGill many of her graduates and undergraduates. All of the officers of the Hospital are graduates, and there are over one hundred and fifty volunteers from the students for positions on it, as privates. The Government is offering positions to those who have been trained in wireless telegraphy, and it is asking also for dressers, to serve in Field Hospitals.

In all of these directions men have gone and are going from the Battalion. Many others will most probably go with the McGill Overseas Company, which is now asking for recruits. As a result of all of these drains upon it, the Battalion, at present, is reduced to almost three-fourths of its normal strength.

The McGill Battalion of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps exists entirely for the purpose of giving to graduates and to students of this University, and to those who are immediately associated with them, an opportunity for learning the rudiments of soldiering, and for qualifying themselves to become officers in the Canadian militia. Membership in the Battalion entails the sacrifice of a certain amount of time. That sacrifice normally amounts, when the recruit class has been left behind, to one evening and one afternoon in the week. The time spent is little compared with the benefit which it brings to those who wish to learn enough about the military art to feel that they are able, should the necessity arise, to defend themselves and to play a part as efficient soldiers in the defence of their country.

Those who join the Regiment incur no obligation for service beyond that which they think necessary for themselves; those who join the Regiment are as free to resign from it as they were to join; the Battalion owes its success, not to any restrictions imposed upon its members by the regulations under which it is organized, but to the spirit of earnest and, almost anxious, desire to learn, which is evidenced by those composing it; that spirit characterizes all of their activities.

The success of the Regiment has, indeed, been phenomenal. It is not six months since it was organized, in its new form, and yet it has, in these months, accomplished as much in organization, in the development of a corps spirit, in its regular activities and in the smartness and knowledge of its rank and file, as is usually accomplished by newly-formed regiments in as many years. The University, its graduates, and undergraduates, do indeed owe a considerable debt to Colonel Starke, and to his officers, upon whom has fallen so much of the work of bringing McGill's Battalion to its present high efficiency.

The McGill Daily, by the example of its Editors, and by its voice does most sincerely urge upon every student at the University that he should take advantage of their Battalion, and become one of its active members.

McGill Twenty-Four Months Ago

From the McGill Daily of February 11, 1913

At a meeting of the Students' Society, it was announced that there was a deficit of about three thousand dollars due principally to the Daily. Several schemes were put forward with a view to paying off this debt. Another point which raised considerable discussion was the question of providing continuity on the Students' Council. Several suggestions were advanced, but it was finally decided to hold the matter over until the annual meeting in March.

The McGill wrestlers made a very creditable impression in their meet with Pennsylvania State College, which is considered the strongest team in the States. All of the Americans' falls were secured by the hammerlock, a hold which is not allowed in the Canadian Intercollegiate League. Audette was in fine form and put up a better class of wrestling than he has ever done before.

The game in Kingston to-night between Queens II and R.M.C., will decide which of these two teams the McGill seconds must play off with.

The value of the various trophies at present held by McGill amounts in all to $1,442. This amount includes both Intercollegiate prizes won by this university and trophies open for individual competition here.

The third meeting of the Mock Parliament takes place to-night. Among the bills to be dealt with is a Government measure dealing with the establishment of a post office at McGill. One of the private measures deals with conscription, which is the subject for the Intercollegiate Debate, which will take place in the Union Hall one week from to-day.

Out In The Wide Wide World

Alumni Jottings From Many Quarters

John T. Bone, Sc. '14, arrives on Sunday morning from Calgary. He will spend a few days in the city before leaving for England.

R. St. George French, a McGill graduate of Arts '12, has just rejoined his regiment after an accident. Early in December he sustained a broken leg playing football which he did not discover until he was on furlough at Oxford and had the X-ray put on it. It is now entirely better and he is back with his regiment in Liverpool.

C. C. Richards, Sc. '04, is chief engineer for a coal mining company with headquarters at Commerce, Alberta. Before this he was with another coal company at Edmonton, but the war caused the shutting down of their plant.

John H. Larmouth, Sc. '04, is doing good work as superintendent of the municipal street railway at Edmonton, in spite of the physical and political conditions under which he has to work.

"Cakie" Smith, Arts '12, is still keeping his hand in at hockey as a member of the Victoria, B.C., High School team, playing in the City League. Two or three years ago "Cakie" was one of the hardest workers on our own senior team.

F. P. Winter, Sc. '14, has obtained a commission in one of the New Brunswick regiments.

H. A. Richards, Arts '12, is in town for a few days, from Ottawa.

R. Sutherland, Civils '14, is in the Peel street barracks with the 24th Battalion.

Art Cushing, Sc. '12, who spent a number of years in the States with electrical companies, after graduation, has returned to work in Montreal. Ernie Jordan, Sc. '12, is chief chemist for the Nichols Chemical Co. at Selkirk, Ont.

Geo. Smith, Sc. '09, is in the city as manager of the Pneumatic Concrete Paving Co. of Canada.

There are several McGill men who are doing good work in the post-graduate school at Harvard.

A. A. Roback, Arts '12, has been down there for two years. At first, he was making a great reputation for himself in Philosophy. He has now turned his attention to Psychology and hopes to get his degree in the spring.

James Viner, Arts '14 won a scholarship at Harvard last spring and is now pursuing his studies in Economics. During the Christmas holidays, he came back to Montreal and Ottawa, to look up the trade relations of Canada with other countries.

A. D. Muir is another Arts '12 man who has been successful in his post-graduate work. He has won a number of valuable scholarships and if all goes well, hopes to get his Ph.D. at the end of the present session.

THE McCORD NATIONAL MUSEUM

What the McGill Daily Representative Saw at "Temple Grove" — James McGill's Desk, Miniature, Other Personal Effects and his Dog's Collar—Sir William Dawson's Furniture and his Cap and Gown—Recollections of Student Life at McGill in the Sixties

All periods of Canadian history meet at "Temple Grove." Where is "Temple Grove"? What is it? It is safe to say that such questions as these will not be necessary in the next generation, when all roads of Canadian historical students will lead to "Temple Grove" or "The McCord National Museum."

That no other four walls in Canada contain such a treasure of priceless relics illustrating the early story of the British possession in America, can be attested by the representative of this newspaper who yesterday had the privilege of spending the better part of an afternoon within those walls, in company with the keeper of the treasure, Mr. D. Ross McCord, K.C., Arts '63; Law, '67.

THE PLAINS OVER AGAIN

As he made his way up the path leading from the main road to the "Temple Grove," the Daily man was struck by the imposing appearance and commanding size of the McCord family residence. Forty yards from the roadway, a flight of twelve steps carried him to the main entrance, the path continuing on the pillared verandah, sheltering the heavy door with its old-fashioned knocker. As Mr. McCord afterwards explained, the twelve steps of the terrace are dedicated to General Wolfe and the army of the Plains of Abraham, composed of 25th, 35th, 43rd, 47th, 48th, 58th, 60th, 69th, HIS ENTRANCE TO MCGILL

"Drawing was taught by a Mr. Dunne from the North of Ireland, whose pencil and brush taught three generations of Canadians. His early work in the old Water Color School has given us the finest delineation of early Montreal from 1832 to the fifties. I carried off prizes in almost every department, but particularly in drawing."

"In 1859 I entered the Faculty of Arts at McGill, being prize essayist and prizeman in mental and moral philosophy in my year. I was a member of the committee in charge of the first festival in honor of the founder of McGill, held in the Belmont Hall building. This was about 1861. I have the card somewhere. The late Brown Chamberlain, C.M.G., of the Gazette, as far as my memory serves me, deserves the credit of having suggested this festival."

CONNAUGHT AT MCGILL

The ability so conspicuous in the drawing in the McCord National Museum was shown in the decorations over which Mr. McCord presided during his college career. The Moulson Hall would be covered with hundreds of feet of illumination in medieval letters in Latin, Greek, German, French and English. He remembers a remarkable occasion when the present esteemed Governor-General, then a young officer in the Rifle Brigade, was received at McGill College. Dr. P. Carpenter, brother of the great Dr. Carpenter, the physiologist of London, said that he had never seen any hall decorated as it was that evening. Mr. McCord knew every young lady or gentleman in Montreal who was a student at McGill, and he was that under his guidance many hands made light work. The students and the ladies produced the artistic portion, while good conduct men from such regiments as the Guards were detailed to make hundreds of yards of evergreen wreaths.

MEMORIES OF DAWSON

"Amid such scenes as this," continued Mr. McCord, "my memory returns to the grace and the sweetness with which Lady Dawson received the guests. Looking back now, having stepped across the portal of three score and ten, the influence in after life of the gatherings of the students at the residence of Sir William and Lady Dawson have left a indelible impression, which I make no doubt will be echoed by any of the few contemporaries of my day before whose eyes your article may appear. Sir William and Lady Dawson lived in the eastern building above the office occupied by the present registrar. To call him great is to repeat a high class commonplace."

THE UNION JACK

"After Sir William we may say that the scholars and students like the Union Jack, were divided between the cross of Scotland and Ireland, represented by Archdeacon Leach and Dr. Johnson, of T.C.D. respectively. I am wittingly incorrect in attributing a Scottish birth to Dr. Leach. He was really born in that town which is accepted in all the descriptions of both England and Scotland—Borwick-on-Tweed. He had, I think, graduated from a Scotch university, and had been a member of the Scotch regiment, the 42nd, which he joined in 1841. He was a superb logician and metaphysician. Dr. Johnson was as worthy a representative of Trinity College, Dublin, as could be found."

FRENCH PROFESSORS

"Here again, I met Fronteau and Markgraf as professors. They met with a more dignified treatment than I had been given in the High School days to which I have already referred. The effort of lecturing to a small class is a great task to a large one. How herculean to-day would be considered the task assigned to Sir William Dawson of being not only principal, but lecturer in every department of natural science. Dr. Leach had superintended all the departments of mental science and Dr. Johnson those of mathematics."

Numbers do not constitute mental greatness and Mr. McCord is positive that in the smaller classes of his day, there was quite as much scholarship exhibited, as that to which McGill may lay claim at the present day. Should anyone have the temerity to wish to cross swords with him on this point, but picture in every department the opinion of Sir Charles Davidson, ex-Chief Justice, of Mr. Justice Tremblay, and of Dr. L. H. Davidson, who learnedly presides over the legal destiny of the Synod of Canada. If not satisfied with these three witnesses, he is advised to visit the McCord National Museum and the question will be settled beyond contest."

SNOWSHOING

Athletics were not forgotten in those days, and there is a silver cup at Temple Grove testifying to the rapidity with which Mr. McCord gained a race on snowshoes, with the handicap of being forced to wear a trencher and gown."

The superb mahogany desk that belonged to James McGill, the founder of the university, is at "Temple Grove" as well as his miniature in ivory, his Beaver Club medal, the cane with which he measured his staid paces in the streets of early Montreal, accompanied by his graceful French spouse and her pet dog, whose inscribed collar is also in evidence.

The chair and desk used by Sir William Dawson during the whole of the 28 years of his great presidency occupy a position of honor in one of the rooms of the Museum. The two red woods and the trencher cap in which and with which his every degree was conferred during these ever-memorable years, were also sacred relics pointed out by Mr. McCord.

A PRICELESS COLLECTION

No money estimate can be placed upon the priceless contents of this Museum. For years past, Mr. McCord has made every effort, but in vain, to give it to his Alma Mater. "All I can say now, sorrowfully," he concluded, "is that McGill is playing with fire, and if it finds kindling tomorrow, that another educational institution will be its proud possessor, I will not be to blame."

On other relics, perhaps the most treasured of all those under Mr. McCord's keeping, to which the attention of the Daily man was directed previously to being pleasantly bowed out, was that referred to as "The King's Plank." This is a plank from the upper deck of the Royal Yacht presented to Mr. McCord by the King of the Netherlands, six feet one inch in length, on which to quote the beautiful words conveying the Royal gift, "rested the coffin containing the revered remains of Our Great Queen Victoria in their last journey on that vessel."

HOLDS THREE DEGREES

Although his appearance and agility do not betray it, Mr. McCord is now in his seventy-first year. He is the eldest son of the Hon. Mr. Justice John Samuel McCord, and of Anne, daughter of David Ross, K.C., of Montreal. He is a great grandson of John McCord, Canada, and he took his

RED AND WHITE TEAM WILL MEET TRI-COLOR IN FIRST HOME GAME OF THE SEASON

Large Crowd Is Expected to Witness the Game Between These Two Teams in the Race for Honors

INTERMEDIATES TO MEET QUEENS

Captain Box and McKinnon Will Figure on the Queen's Line-up Against McGill Although Enlisted in Army

On Wednesday evening the McGill Senior hockey squad held their final practice before the game with Queen's on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

The intercollegiate league, so far, has proved a surprise to all concerned. The defeat of Queen's by the Toronto septette upset all the calculations of the hockey fans, and what the final result is going to be, at the present, at least, is hard to conjecture. Should the McGill team win both home games and should Queen's succeed in defeating Toronto, the series would end in a three-cornered tie.

The Red and White team have quite recovered from their strenuous week-end matches and are prepared to go into Saturday's match determined to win. The Queen's aggregation have been working steadily since their defeat at the hands of the Varsity septette last week, and are not taking any chances on being caught asleep again.

The McGill team will be the same as that which represented the university against Toronto two weeks ago. Ross, Kelsch and Blair of the Second, being carried as spares, besides the two regular Senior substitutes.

Parsons will be found at rover and will prove a mighty tough man to handle. His ankle has perfectly healed and he is ready and fit for the game of his life.

Kendall, who was absent in the game against the Nationals Monday night, will again be at his old place on the defence.

Queen's will be at full strength. Captain Box, and McKinnon have enlisted as dressers in the Second Overseas Contingent, and have been accepted. They do not have to report at Ottawa until February 19th, so that they will be able to play for the Tri-color against McGill to-morrow. It is also expected that they will get down to Toronto to play against Varsity on the 27th of the month. In Box and McKinnon, Queen's are to lose two of her most prominent athletes.

Tickets for the game have been going fairly well, and it is expected that to-day and to-morrow a large number will be sold. The authorities kindly cancelled the Saturday afternoon drill so that the members of the regiment might see the game, and it is anticipated that a great number of these men will be present to cheer for the Red and White to-morrow.

The following men are asked to be at the Arena sharp at 1:45 p.m., Saturday:

Mann.	Rooney.
Kendall.	Andrews.
Morris.	Marson.
Blair.	Ross.
Parsons.	Kelsch.
Rainboth.	Blair.

The McGill Intermediate hockey team are to meet the Queen's seven at the Arena this afternoon at 5 p.m., in the second match in the home-and-home series between these two teams.

Two weeks ago the Red and White Seconds played Queen's in Kingston, and after a close game, lost out by the score of 6 to 4. However, since then the team has practised consistently, and are confident that they can overcome the two goal lead, especially so, as they are playing on their own ice, and before their own crowd.

The game at Kingston two weeks ago, the Tri-color lost such men as Goddard, White and others, who have since played their second Intercollegiate Senior game, and are no longer eligible to play with the Seconds.

It is more than probable that Terry Hall will start out on the defence, and should assist materially in starting the Seconds off with a good steady speed, and although he won't play throughout the whole game, should do great work for the Intermediates while on the ice.

The men are asked to be on hand at the Arena at 4:30 sharp, as the club only has the rink from 4 to 5 p.m.

A large attendance is expected, as this promises to be a fine exhibition of the national winter pastime.

Lyons, who played on the defence for the Intermediates in Kingston, will not play, having been suspended by the McGill Athletic Association.

The line-up of the McGill Seconds follows:

Goal—Clarke.
Defence—Kelsch, MacKenzie.
Centre—Ritchie.
Rover—McCulloch.
Spares—Blair and Smith.

The hockey executive met last night the only business of importance to come before the meeting was the matter of an exhibition game with the St. Nicholas team in New York at the end of the Intercollegiate season. While in New York last week, the management were approached with regard to a game and last night it was decided to open negotiations with the St. Nicholas club.

Basketballers Are Ready to Meet Queen's

Presbyterian Basketballers Arrive to Play First Game of the Season

For the second time this season the Queen's and McGill basketball teams will come together in an intercollegiate championship fixture this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Central Y.M.C.A.

The Queen's team were defeated by the Red and White quintette three weeks ago, the McGill team winning out by a big margin.

So far the McGill team is leading in the race for the championship, having won both their games away from home; while Toronto defeated Queen's in Kingston.

McGill should have no difficulty in winning, although they are, although Queen's can be counted on to make them travel. The Tri-color always manage to put up a good game here, and to-night's match should prove no exception.

Baldwin, the star centre of the Red and White quintette, will not be on the McGill line-up to-night. Baldwin tore a ligament in his foot in the Varsity game in Toronto and is resting, up till he is in good condition against "Baldy" will be ready to get into the Varsity match here next week. A hard game is ahead of the McGill team then, Manager Zimmerman, of the Varsity squad, anticipates their defeat at the hands of McGill to staleness and promises the Red and White a bad time next week.

The Queen's team for to-night will be the same as that which met McGill in Kingston. Reid will be found at his old position as a forward, while Captain Laird will again be at guard.

Ferguson will replace Baldwin at centre on the McGill team, while Smith will take Ferguson's position at guard.

Johnny Ferguson and Harry Pitts, of the Seconds, will be the spares.

The teams will line up as follows:

Smith.....Forward.....Reid
Kenney.....Forward.....Mills
Ferguson.....Centre.....Dyer
Seath.....Guard.....Laird
Willisroff.....Guard.....Laird
Spares—McGill, J. Ferguson, H. Pitts.

BOXING WRESTLING, FENCING CLUB TO HOLD CHAMPIONSHIP BOUTS ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

All Classes are to be Contested, which Looks Well for Intercollegiate Assault-at-Arms

ENTRIES MUST BE IN MONDAY

Men Will Weigh in at Noon on Tuesday — One Pound Overweight Allowed—Physical Exam. Necessary

The members of the Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club are having a busy time of it preparing for the college championships which are to be held in the Union on Wednesday evening.

Last night at the club quarters, there was a large turn-out of both wrestlers and fencers. Over a dozen mat artists were on hand and put in a strenuous work-out under instructor Smith.

Ramsay, who won the inter-faculty championship in the 135 lb. class last year, was out last night. He is going fine this year and looks good for the honors at this weight.

The men did not learn any new holds last night, but went right into bouts.

Instructor Smith has called a practice for Saturday morning at 4:30, when every man is expected to be out.

The college championship meet to be held on Wednesday night in the McGill Union, promises to be the biggest affair of its kind ever staged in connection with the McGill Club. Under the able guidance of President Harry Cleary, the Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club so far this season has been most active, with the result that on Wednesday evening those who attend the meet will witness a first class bout, fought between star men, all of whom are evenly matched at their respective weights. A feature of this year's assault is that in all classes in the three different affiliated clubs are to be contested.

In boxing, Banfield and Dobson, at 115 lbs., should put up a good fight for the honors. Both are quick and good mixers.

Forbes and Bone are the only two entries for the 125 lb. boxing. Forbes has won the Intercollegiate at this weight twice, while Bone has held the 115 lb. college championship.

The 135 lb. class will bring out many aspirants. Harold, Ross, Crombie, Blackford, McCulloch, Jenks and several others and the winner of this class should make a good man for the Intercollegiate meet.

The 145 lb. class has amongst its number several hard scrappers, who are all very closely matched. With Montgomery and Armistead out of the game, the club has lost two of its best men in this class, either of whom were sure to have made a point for the team in the Intercollegiate. However, in Bryant, Spohn, McNeil and Sutter, the club is fortunate in having four worthy substitutes the best of whom should be able to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of the other two men.

In the heavyweight class, McGill has a sure Intercollegiate champion, and

SCIENCE SOPHS. SWAMP SENIORS IN FAST MATCH

Three Sophomore Classes are Now Tied for the Inter-Faculty Championship

The three '17s in Arts, Science and Medicine will now play off for the inter-faculty championship, Science '17 having won their match yesterday from the seniors. It was certainly some match, the sophomores playing rings around the senior men. The game was one which required all the knowledge of the finer points which Len Rainboth possesses to referee it.

From the first blast of the whistle the players of both teams started in to have a general shelly battle and when it was finally conceived by the referee that full time was up, the second year men were declared winners, the score being announced to the crowd of bystanders as 5-1, a few goals made no difference as it was the general opinion of everybody present, the referee included, that the sophomores had found the not more times than the seniors.

This now leaves Arts '17, Medicine '17 and Science '17 to play off for the honors, and as Medicine drew a bye the first game will be played between Science and Arts. From all appearances the Arts players will have to perfect themselves a bit more in bayonet practice before they will be able to combat with the students of Applied Science. There is one consolation that the Arts players will have is that McGill, the star man in the winners of yesterday's combat, will be unable to play since he takes his place on the Intermediate line-up to-night.

The game started off with a rush, but before skating had been in progress for some time, it was seen that the '17s had the best of the argument, and before full time had come the winners had run up an overwhelming majority. Len Rainboth had his work cut out for him to keep the men in order, but he did his duty in fine style.

The teams:

Sophomores (8)	Seniors (1)
Rochester	B. Grant
Parsons	L. Bonhomme
Wilson	C. Little
C. Hope	Bignell
McCulloch	B. Pennock
Poe	J. McColl

Subs—Ward, Buchanan, Jacques.

Rainboth had one of his eyes blacked in the Harvard match and he also had the other one polished up to perfection yesterday. What will happen in the Queen's match?

Scott certainly did some fancy skating at that match.

Watch Bignell, he will get the goat of the brass monkey.

Donaldas Will Play MacDonald

Next Saturday the R.V.C. Journeys to St. Anne's to Play the Teachers

Yesterday afternoon, the hockeyists at the Royal Victoria College had a very profitable and much needed practice. On Wednesday, a double header was played and a most disappointing exhibition of the game it was. There was some good checking, but the combination and shooting was very poor, while people were all over the ice, instead of playing in their places.

The practice yesterday was in preparation for the match which is to be played against the ladies of Macdonald College on their ice on Saturday morning. The R.V.C. will leave the Bonaventure station at 8:30 a.m., and return at 12:30 noon. An interesting game is expected, weather permitting, and the team wants supporters. All girls who wish to go, please sign up at R.V.C.

EXPECT HARVARD FENCERS TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Prof. Jules Lesabay, fencing instructor at Harvard University, is of the opinion that the Crimson is represented by one of the strongest fencing teams this season that has been turned out at Cambridge in late years. Notwithstanding the fact that Harvard was defeated by the Annapolis fencing team, Professor Lesabay thinks the team has an excellent chance to win the championship title in April, when the intercollegiate finals will be held in New York.

The five men who constitute the team this year, only one, T. J. Putnam, '15, was a member of the team last year, although all of the men were in the squad. Putnam is without doubt the best man on the team, and is the most eligible man for the leadership when the captain is elected later in the season. The other members of the team are Drake de Kay '16, Bruce Nichols '17, Allen Short '17 and Dillon.

The Harvard fencers are working now in preparation for their next scheduled meet, with the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College. There are about 25 candidates in the squad, about 15 of whom are freshmen. Two freshmen in particular are showing more than ordinary ability, L. Chauvenet and W. H. Russell, and both of these men should develop into valuable fencers later. Harvard does not expect a very hard team from Springfield, and is confident of a victory.

College Sport

The University of Toronto juniors have scored 96 goals this season and have had 27 scored against them.

Box and McKinnon, of the Queen's University senior team, have enlisted with the third contingent on the medical staff, but expect to be with the Presbyterian for the remainder of the season.

Manager Tinker, of the Chicago Federals, expects Rosinger, shortstop on the University of Michigan nine last year, to develop into a major league player. He has signed to play with Tinker this summer.

Robert Layfield, the Johns Hopkins student who got his neck broken in a football game last fall, is expected to recover. Last week an operation was performed by physicians in Wilmington, D.C., and it was found that the spinal cord was severely injured but not fractured.

The fact that the case has been lingering so long has proved a great surprise to surgeons throughout the United States. A dislocated neck usually means instant death. The surgeons who performed the operation believe that Mr. Layfield has a fair chance to recover.

In response to a call by Coach John Slattery, 11 battery candidates for the Tufts College basketball team are now returning in the case in the Goddard gymnasium for the preliminary work of the season. The men were given a short work-out Monday under the direction of Coach Slattery and Capt. R. J. Lee, '15, and were then sent to a short run on the outdoor track. Captain Slattery stated that the practice will be ended every day with a short run. Aside from the battery candidates, several of the veterans took advantage of the use of the cage, and worked out during the afternoon.

Illinois and Chicago are the only basketball teams of the conference left with a 100 per cent record for the season thus far. Illinois is out to repeat her football record, so a battle may be expected when these two teams meet.

Members of the last year's football team at Minnesota, who received their "M" for the first time in football, were presented with heavy maroon blankets with a gold letter and stars to denote their number. Last fall, there were twelve for whom it was the first offense, and consequently they received the blankets. The men were as follows: Mundy, Scholtes, Quist, Hamilton, Hendee, Dietrich, Sinclair, Gratton, Mayer, Townley, Morse and Moudry.

A Harvard-Boston A.A. 1,500-yard relay race will again be a feature of the B.A.A. indoor intercollegiate athletic meet which is to be held in Mechanics Hall Saturday afternoon, February 27. The B.A.A. team holds the world's record for this race of 3m. 24.5s, having wrested it Saturday night from Harvard which had the previous record of 3m. 28s, at the schoolboy games last winter.

OIL LEAKAGE

When oil leaks along a shaft it is common practice to remove the shaft and cut in it a helical groove in such a direction that the groove picks up the oil leaking along the bearings and so it is, screws it back into the gear box or crank chamber. This is an almost infallible remedy, but, of course, it may be used only with a plain bearing; with ball bearing gear box one must attend to the arrangement made to prevent leakage, i.e., the stuffing box, felt washer, or whatever may be provided. It is often equally effective to provide an air release. On some well-designed modern gears there is in the top of the gear box quite a large aperture, which is covered with gauze and serves to allow air to escape as the parts heat up. Otherwise pressure is generated in the gear box and the oil or grease is forced out.—E. W.

FENCERS PREPARE FOR THE FACULTY ASSAULT-AT-ARMS

Event Is Next Wednesday — Contestants Must Be Physically Examined

The fencers went through a careful practice last night for one hour and a half. A few men exchanged bouts, but most of the time was spent in learning new parries. Most of the beginners are now sufficiently familiar with the sport to start practicing with one another, and it will be found that much improvement can be wrought in this way.

The inter-faculty assault-at-arms is to take place next Wednesday. All who wish to compete must hand in their names to H. Wickenden or to Union office on or before Monday night's practice. It must also be remembered that competitors will have to get physically examined if they have not done so this year.

The following men are requested to turn out on Monday, 7:30: H. W. Johnston, E. J. Lowe, E. K. Kay, A. Terroux, H. R. Wicksiden, T. W. D. Macdonald, H. R. Dale Harris, L. Macgaff, J. Acetman, H. H. Rosen, T. W. G. Hale, H. G. MacKinnon, V. C. Kalem, L. S. Yull.

Gym. Classes

There appears to be a considerable amount of confusion regarding the hours during which McGill students can use the Y.M.C.A. pool.

The following are the hours which must be observed by students:

For general use.

Mondays—6 to 7.

Wednesdays—6 to 7.

Saturdays—4 to 5 and 6 to 7.

For members of the swimming club.

Tuesdays—5:30 to 6:30.

Thursdays—5:30 to 6:30.

Saturdays—5 to 6.

It is quite important that men should conform to this schedule in taking advantage of the privileges at the Y.M.C.A. pool.

RESERVED SEATS.

Tickets for the Queen's-McGill hockey game, to be played at the Arena Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., are now on sale at the office in the Union.

Reserved seats—75c.

Box seats—$1.00.

Many Athletic Stars Barred

Faculty Sets the Iron First on Many of the Best Athletics

Providence.—As a result of the announcement of the inter-faculty championships at Brown University Monday, the athletic teams received a setback, as many stars have been declared ineligible. The students claim the system is poor and different from that employed at other colleges. The examinations are said to have been the hardest in years; 46 men out of a class of 50 failing in trigonometry.

The baseball, football, track and swimming teams have all lost men, but it is felt that the gridiron game next fall will lose the most as a result of Clark, the quarterback, and Gordon, the star punter, being declared ineligible. Clark, who was a star last fall, has left for his home in Detroit, Gordon, who hails from Cleveland, is behind in his studies.

Hazlett, catcher of the varsity nine, is another who will not be eligible this spring. Norcross, who played in the outfield and at first base, and who was also a promising athlete, is ineligible. Sullivan, a pitcher, and Wade, tackle on the football team and an outfielder, are two more who cannot play because of their scholastic work.

John Dunn, one of the relay team which was to have competed against Dartmouth College in the Army A.A. games on February 20, is another man lost. Dunn also was a member of last year's baseball squad. The swimming team loses three of its best point winners, Hull, Ingersoll and Tobelmann.

POSSIBILITY OF A THREE CORNERED DRAW IN HOCKEY

Yale's Win Over Dartmouth Gives Harvard and Yale a Chance with Dartmouth

The Yale hockey team defeated the Dartmouth seven 4 to 1 at Hanover, N. H., Monday afternoon. Dartmouth was without the services of Wanamaker, one of the best collegiate hockey players who has been competing against them on an attack of grippe. The goals for Yale were scored by Macdonald, Murray, Burgess, and Sweeney, and for Dartmouth by Tuck.

Provided the Harvard University defeated Yale on February 23, this will result in a three-cornered tie between the University, Yale and Dartmouth. Yale has shown extraordinary improvement lately and is now putting up a very strong game.

War Summary

These Articles Are Specially Written for the McGill Daily and will be Published each Day.

FRANCE

French aerial scouts report the massing of large bodies of Germans between Bethune and Arras preparatory to another attempt to break through the Allies' lines. Near La Bassée the British have captured an important position, Violaines Station. The French have taken the hill of Notre Dame de Lorette, an important port near St. Omer. In Belgium the Germans have been shelling the Belgian positions but without any apparent effect. In the Champagne region both sides are using their entire artillery strength. Fighting continues in the Argonne, both sides claiming to have made gains. In the Vosges, a heavy fog has hindered active operations.

RUSSIA

The most important news from the Eastern front is the evacuation of Lodz by the Germans. The German headquarters have been removed to Kalisz. In East Prussia the German troops have evacuated Insterburg and the inhabitants are fleeing before the Russians enter. The battle front extends for fifty miles in East Prussia and heavy fighting is going on along the Rivers Memel, Inster and Scheschuppe.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

The battle in the Carpathians is still raging furiously. In the Mezokaborez region the Hungarian troops have been badly cut up. In the Valley of the Lyutta the Russians have advanced several miles and in the Laborez Valley they have also advanced.

TURKEY

The Turkish coast on the Asia-Minor side of the Black Sea has been bombarded by the Russian fleet. Considerable damage was done in the vicinity of Trebizond, where some batteries defending the port were demolished and near Plalava and Rize, where bridges were destroyed. In the course of the operations over fifty Turkish sailing vessels were sunk. It is reported that an aviator from the Anglo-French fleet in the Aegean Sea flew over Constantinople and dropped several bombs on the city.

BRITISH EMPIRE

Reports from Cairo state that nearly ten thousand Turks were killed in their attempts to cross the Suez Canal. It is thought that all danger of a second attempt to cross the Canal is passed as the Turks seem to have withdrawn from the region east of the Canal. Owing to the enormous increase in expenditure for the coming year the Canadian Government have brought in a bill by which there will be an increase of from 5 to 10 per cent. in the tariff and a number of stamp taxes are also proposed.

INSTRUCTION IN MEDICAL CORPS AND STRETCHER WORK

Second Instalment of Drill For Men Going With Base Hospital

NOTICE

The instructors of stretcher drill for the General Hospital have been unable to procure books of instruction. The stretcher drill will be published in the Daily and all men enlisted in the Hospital Corps are urged to preserve it for future reference.

(D) EXERCISES WITH CLOSED STRETCHERS.

Lift stretchers as before detailed. By the Right (or left) Quick March. The squad will advance.

Squads About Turn. The whole turn about, the stretchers being passed from right hand to left by the Nos. 1 and 3. Change Stretchers. If the squads are advancing, the Nos. 1 will pass the stretchers from one hand to the other behind them. The Nos. 3 seeing this done, will pass the stretchers from one hand to the other in front of them. The Nos. 2 moving diagonally to their places. If the squads are retreating, Nos. 1 act as detailed for Nos. 3 and the Nos. 3 as for Nos. 1. Nos. 4 in each case continue in their respective places. The stretcher must be carried in the right hand when the command about turn is given.

(E) MOVING A FLANK.

When it is necessary to move to a flank, the command right (or left) turn is given. When a squad is marching to the right, and the command about turn is given, the Nos. 1 and 3 will seize handles of stretcher with the left hand and cut away the right while turning about, resuming the grasp with the right hand after the turn has been completed.

(F) CHANGING DIRECTION.

At the Half Right (or left) Form—On the word Form, No. 1 of the squad on the flank named will make a full turn, the remainder of the Nos. 1 a partial turn in the required direction, the remainder of the bearers a partial turn in the opposite direction. Quick March—On the word March, the No. 1 of the squad on the flank named stands fast, the remainder step off, and glancing to the right (or left) move by the shortest route to their places in the new alignment, halt, and take up their dressing independently.

(G) EXTENDING.

From the right (left or any named squad) to four paces extend. On the March—On the word extend, the named squad will continue to move

EXHIBITION BY MCGILL N.C.O.'S.

Col. Wilson Will Inspect Non-Coms. Next Wednesday

The N.C.O.'s of the Battalion, who went through their exhibition drill some time ago, are to be called upon to repeat in the presence of the O.C. of the 4th Division. According to Order No. 12, Lieut.-Col. Wilson will inspect the N.C.O.'s at the Craig street armory next Wednesday. By that time all the N.C.O. exams should be over and the men should do the best they can to uphold their reputation for efficiency which was gained at their last exhibition. There will be only one practice drill before the inspection, that on Monday next. All the men who will be out on Wednesday should turn out and it is confidently expected that the men will show the inspecting officers that McGill is second to none in the efficiency of her men in their drill and musketry exercises.

A CORRECTION

The statement appearing in yesterday's Daily stating that the 23rd Battalion had already left Quebec and sailed from Halifax should have read, "They expect to leave Saturday for Halifax and will probably sail under sealed orders on Monday."

N.C.O. NOTICE

The Non-Commissioned Officers of the Battalion are hereby notified that the drill called for Saturday afternoon, February 13th, has been cancelled.

on in quick time and the remainder will make a partial turn outward, double to their places, turning to their front and breaking into quick time as they arrive there. As each squad disengages the Nos. 4 place themselves on the right side of the centre of their stretchers.

On the Right (left or any named squad close)—On the word Close, the named squad will continue to move on in quick time, the remainder will make partial turn outward, doubling to their places, turning to their front and breaking into quick time as they arrive there. The Nos. 4 resuming their places in the rear of Nos. 3.

(H) EXERCISES WITH PREPARED STRETCHERS.

Preparing and Closing Stretchers.—The preparing of stretchers and all movements with prepared stretchers will be prepared in extended order.

Prepare Stretchers.—Nos. 4 take two side paces to the right. Nos. 1 and 3 turn to the right, kneel on the left knee, unbuckle the transverse straps and place the slings on the ground beside them, separate the poles and straighten the transverse.

Two.—On the word Two, each takes a sling, doubles it on itself, slips the loop thus formed on the near handle and places the three ends over the opposite handle, buckle uppermost, they then rise and turn to the left together.

Closed stretchers.—Nos. 1 and 3 turn to the right, kneel on the left knee, remove the slings and place them on the ground beside them, push the transverse in, raise the handles and approximate the poles.

Two.—On the word Two, they rise, lifting the stretcher, face one another, place the handles of the poles between the thighs, roll to the right, and roll the canvas tightly round the pole to the right.

Three.—On the word Three, each takes up a sling, passes the buckle end to the other, threads the transverse straps through the loop of the other sling, and buckles tightly close to the racket. Grasping both handles in their right hands, back of the hand to the right, turn to the right, the slightly stooping position, rise and turn to the left together, the Nos. 4 taking two paces to the left.

(I) LIFTING THE LOWERING STRETCHERS.

Lift Stretchers.—On the word Stretchers, Nos. 1 and 3 grasp the double sling midway between the poles with the forefinger and thumb of the right hand sweep it off the handles, rise, holding the sling at the full extent of the arm buckles to the front, taking a side pace to the right, separate the handles and place the sling over the shoulders, dividing it equally, buckle to the right. The slings should be placed so that they lie well below the collar of the frock behind and in the hollow of the shoulders to the front.

Two.—On the word Two, stoop, slip the loops over the handles, commencing with the left and grasp the handles firmly.

Three.—Rise slowly together, lifting the stretcher, Nos. 3 conforming closely to the movements of Nos. 1.

Lower Stretcher.—On the word Stretchers, Nos. 1 and 3 slowly stoop and place the stretchers on the ground, slip the loops from the handles and stand up, remove the slings from the shoulder, folding them as before described.

Two.—On the word Two, they stand two stretchers, stoop, place the slings on the handles as in prepared sketches and rise together.

HAND IT IN.

If you hear of anything new Hand it in. On the campus, in the class-room, or in the gym. Whatever it is, don't fear. We will greet it with a cheer. If you'll only let it down, and Hand it in.

Suppose that you can write a story. Hand it in. If you know a joke that pointed like a pin. You'll make the editor laugh. And he'll put you on the "staff". If you'll only write it down, and Hand it in.

A Net Profit of $1196.03

---VS---

A Net Loss of $125.04

THE 1913-14 McGill Daily figures appearing in the Chartered Accountants' Report on the "Students' Council General Revenue and Expenditure Account" show a net profit of $1196.03. Have you ever wondered how a loss of $125.04--the figures for the 1912-13 Session--could have been changed to such a gain?

This has been made possible only by the Advertising Revenue. The McGill Daily is to-day conceded to be one of the best College Publications in America--and it is the Revenue derived from the Advertising Columns which admits of its constant improvement.

Every week-day morning the McGill Daily appears promptly on schedule. Two thousand readers eagerly anticipate its coming. This again is made feasible only if finances will permit.

We respectfully request that the Governing Body of McGill University, the officers of Instruction, the Graduates and Undergraduates and, in fact, all our readers do their share.

Remember that every dollar spent with our advertisers is a boost towards the publication of the McGill Daily--the official organ of the Undergraduate Body of McGill University --and let the advertising revenue producers have your full moral and practical support.

VARSITY "MEDS" GO WITH HOSPITAL

University of Toronto "Meds" will largely compose the staff of the Clearing Hospital which is to accompany the second overseas contingent to France. Between forty and fifty fifth-year medical students at the University of Toronto, will be taken on the strength of the contingent, following a request for volunteers that has been circulated at the University. These men will enlist as supernumeraries, with the understanding that later on they will receive commissions. Owing to the fact that they will be obliged to leave the University before the completion of the academic term, it is proposed that they will be given credit for their year on enlisting. The students are keen at the prospect of engaging in this service, and there will be no delay in securing all the men required; in fact the entire number wanted have already offered. Lieut.-Col. Wallace Scott will be in charge. Drs. Foster and Davey of Hamilton, and one medical man from Ottawa will assist him. Lieut.-Col. G. S. Rennie, formerly of the 4th Artillery Brigade, is in charge of the organization and will take the unit to England. Lieut. G. F. Strathy
